

Abstract Of The Disclosure

A method for enabling useful data, in particular navigation data, which are stored on a data carrier or transmitted into a data processing system. The user is provided with an optimized data provision method. For this purpose, the data are enabled for an 5 area that is freely selectable by the user of the useful data.